Food Allergies and Intolerances – Customer Notice

Please note that although the items on our 'Gluten Free' menu do not contain the gluten as an ingredient, they are prepared and served in an open plan kitchen environment that does handle numerous gluten containing products.

We follow strict procedures to prevent cross contamination of allergens but cannot guarantee that it will never occur. We use a separate fryer, grill and hot plate for cooking gluten free items and so there may be a slightly longer wait than usual as we wait for them to heat up.

If you have a severe food allergy or intolerance, please ask to speak to a member of the kitchen staff/management directly before ordering your meal.
